FIRST FORT MASON CENTER GIFT SHOW DEBUTS DECEMBER 1, BUILDING "A"

The holiday season is a time for renewing the spirit and for giving—and that's why we're sponsoring the first Resident Group Gift Show. This month many of our non-profit organizations will display items in the lobby of Building A that you can purchase through the groups: original, creative gift ideas that double your pleasure, because when you select from these gifts, you will also be donating to a good cause.

For instance, you can brighten your home with a live, decorated, two-foot Alberta Spruce tree from the Guardsmen. They also have cut trees, 8 species, 2 to 60 feet tall. Holly, garlands, mistletoe, poinsettias, and wreaths 16 to 40 inches will also be available. All proceeds go towards sending needy children to summer camp.

Handcrafted tree ornaments and other interesting useful objects created with care are available from the Mexican Museum and Folk Art International. The Mexican Museum's store, "La Tienda," will have jewelry, ceramics, weaving, books, wooden toys and animals. Folk Art International, temporarily housed in Bldg. A from November 25 through December 23, brings you the work of artisans from many different cultures: handwoven honeysuckle-vine baskets made by a 72-year-old Cherokee from North Carolina, primitive-fired pottery from Papua New Guinea, Appalachian whimmydiddles, Japanese bobbing-headed papier-mache tigers, framed Polish woodcuts, and satin-robed Chinese Imperial hand-puppets represent the one-of-a-kind items available.

To share holiday good wishes, you can choose Christmas cards from the Fund for Animals or the SS Jeremiah O'Brien. Fund for Animals also carries gifts for humans as well as for your animal friends—dog & cat collars with reflective I.D. tags. America's last unaltered Liberty Ship, the SS Jeremiah O'Brien, carries key rings, money clips, baseball cap, buttons and more.

An amazing variety of informative books are available from Fort Mason residents: Media Alliance offers the "Media How To Notebook," Tamalpa Institute of Dancers' Workshop carries "Movement Ritual," Greens features Tassajara cookbooks, and the Poetry Film Workshop has a newly published "Peace or Perish—A Crisis Anthology." You can buy "The Field Guide to the Gray Whale" from the Oceanic Society and the Friends of the San Francisco Public Library has a broad selection of nearly new books at bargain prices—$1.00 to $5.00.

Fort Mason Center houses two theatre groups and several performance-related groups. For those who enjoy theatre, gift tickets to a performance at Magic Theatre or People's Theater Coalition will demonstrate your thoughtfulness. The San Francisco Bay Area Dance Coalition offers Dancers' Preview Concerts from December through June. The Academy of Media and Theatre Arts will present a special performance of "The Best Christmas Pageant Ever," performed by young actors trained at the Academy. Performances will be held on December 19 and 20, at 6 and 8pm in People's Theater Coalition.

Oceanic Society Poster at the Fort Mason Resident Gift Show

T-shirts are available from almost every one of Fort Mason's resident groups. One can find a dolphin from Lifeline Marine Research, dancers from Tamalpa Institute, animals from Fund for Animals, rivers from Friends of the River, boats and ships from the SS Jeremiah O'Brien and the Oceanic Society, and whimsical, original art from the San Francisco Children's Art Center.

And if you know someone who has always wanted to play the guitar, the Blue Bear School of Music offers many different types of classes and workshops as well as music lessons.

A gift certificate from the S.F. Museum of Modern Art Rental Gallery will allow someone to choose the artwork they prefer, for purchase or rental.

A world of African arts will be featured at the San Francisco African-American Historical and Cultural Society. Traditional West African sculptures, masks, contemporary East African paintings & prints, wood and soapstone household items plus more will be available for purchase during December.

Symbolic and artistic jewelry, such as a whale pin from the Oceanic Society, and Taxco silver jewelry from the Mexican Museum, will be on display.

Memberships in the "Friends" of Fort Mason or in any of the 50 non-profit resident groups could help you fill an empty Christmas stocking and your money will be working twice as hard. Once as a gift for a special someone and again as a donation towards a good cause to promote a better world.

Wrapping and mailing all those gifts can also be done at Fort Mason. Ace Mailing will be providing mailing and decorative Christmas wrapping for a small fee.

Items displayed at the Fort Mason Gift Show will be available for purchase through the individual resident groups. Drop down and pick up a FREE Gift List detailing items offered by each group. The Fort Mason Center offices are open Mondays through Saturdays, 9am to 5pm. Show dates—December 1 through 24.
